Nothing helps you advance your work on culture as effectively as sharing and learning with other like-minded leaders. In fact, that’s why we continue to host our Annual High Performing Culture Summit.

Each year, we bring together leaders from across the country, all passionate about building and developing powerful, high performing cultures.

The Summit provides them with three important advantages:

1. They learn new content to help deepen their practice of the Fundamentals System™.

2. They learn and share best practices with other companies who face the same challenges and opportunities.

3. They develop valuable new alliances with other leaders with whom they can connect throughout the year.

The Summit has become a “must” for anyone serious about taking their culture to a new level. And of course, what’s not to like about getting away and spending a few days in an idyllic setting, just when the weather is beginning to turn colder elsewhere?

Attendance at the Summit should be part of every annual culture plan.